Bachelor of Science in Environmental Design, Magna Cum Laude, Ball State University

Biography: Bill Payne is a principal and architect with Fanning Howey, a nationally recognized leader in educational facility design. Bill has been with Fanning Howey for 21 years, and has served as executive director of the Indianapolis regional office for 10 years. His primary focus is providing leadership for the Indianapolis office, which serves school districts throughout the Midwest and as far away as Anchorage, Alaska, New Orleans, Louisiana, and Washington, D.C.

Bill is a member of the Council of Educational Facility Planners International, American Institute of Architects, National Council of Architectural Registration Boards, United State Green Building Council, and is a registered Architect in Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, and California. Locally, Bill has served as a past member and President of the Carmel Clay Education Foundation.

Originally from Indianapolis, Bill received his Bachelor of Architecture, Magna Cum Laude, from Ball State University College of Architecture and Planning in 1980, and became a registered architect in the State of Indiana in 1982. Prior to joining Fanning Howey, Bill was a senior project manager for Browning Day Mullins Dierdorf, where he led projects that included the Worthen Arena, Ball State University, Washington Tennis Center in Washington, D.C., and Master Planning for the Meridian Technology Center Office Park in Carmel, Indiana.

Bill is currently scheduled to present at this year's Council of Educational Facility Planners International Midwest Regional Conference, "Why Build a Classroom in 80 Hours? Because We Can."
